BEGAN ON TOWPATH.

John G. Wallenmeier, Jr., New York's state treasurer, and a candidate for re-nomination, is one of the most popular and respected citizens of Erie county. He began life as a mule driver on the towpath, and later became a "skipper" of a canal boat. At 18 he left the canal and became a blacksmith then went into the grocery business and entered politics in 1893.At the Hoffman now, and on draught the famous Tony Faust beer.Eva Young, of Mesa, has not been heard from for a few days, but subscriptions arrive at the office in nearly every day's mail, to be credited to her, and she is running a close race with Paul Todd for third place. Her report for the past few days is expected at contest headquarters any hour, and it is quite likely she will have a big bunch of votes to deposit.CLIP COUPONS CAREFULLY.
Some of the coupons that have come into the office lately have been torn out of the paper carelessly, and some are all wadded up in a bunch. All coupons should be carefully clipped and left unfolded, whether mailed or handed in at the office.

THE COUNCIL WANTS
CARNIVAL COMPANYBut An Ordinance Passed a Year Ago Remains on the Books Unrepealed.At the last meeting of the city council a committee consisting of Councilmen Cisney and Christy was appointed to consider and act upon what privileges of the streets would be granted a carnival company for the week of the territorial fair. A meeting of the committee was held last evening, but little was accomplished in the way of reaching a decision. Both of the members of the committee it is understood are in favor of putting the carnival on the downtown streets but an ordinance now in force and effect prohibits the erection of tents within the city limits.It is known that a complaint would be filed against the carnival company should the ordinance be violated. Mr.
Berger, the manager of the Dorris theater having already signified that to be his intention. It has also been suggested by the fair association, who are anxious to have all the different plans of entertainment going on in the city during the week of the fair and especially at nights, that the carnival company make a violation of the ordinance and be allowed to pay a nominal fine each day in addition to the license charged by the city. To this plan the city recorder raises an objection contending in support of his objection that a law violated once might be passed with a nominal fine but the second offender in this case, the second day could not be passed by without the fine being increased.
The ordinance could be repealed onthe vote of a majority of the members of the council, but it would require ten days for the repealing ordinance to become effective and this would be too late for the case as desired. The case is such that there will no carnival company on the downtown streets unless Mr. Berger withdraws his objection or Judge Thomas consents to assessing the carnival company a minimum fine each day.If you believe in Arizona products, ask your grocer for "Daisy Flour" and try for the prize at the Fair.The annual meeting of the stockholders of the "Arizona Publishing Company" will be held at the office of the company in Phoenix, Arizona, on
